

Life Long Learning Classes

The William Breman Jewish Home, Atlanta, GA ~ 404. 351. 8410 ~ www.wbjh.org

You are never too old to learn! That's the motto of the monthly lifelong learning classes at The Home. Residents' lives are enriched with spiritual, educational and creative activities such as Torah study, painting, photography, travel club and poetry reading and writing. The poetry classes have been particularly popular. Below are poems from two of our residents.

An Inviting Sensory Seder

A whiff of candles burning,
Chicken soup steaming from pots,
The smell of a clean house.
My matzah farfel keeglach baking in the oven along with the brisket.
The gleaming of china and silver,
People milling around and children with shiny eyes wondering what the Afikomen present will be.
The table filled with family and friends and Saul and I looking at each other with pride.
Saul, with his beautiful voice, leading everyone in song--Dayenu never stops.
When the door is opened, hoping that Elijah will enter, bringing peace with him.
A discussion of freedom at all levels, ending with the song--
Let My People Go.

Written by Selma Kutner, At The William Breman Jewish Home, April 2011

Friendships

I'm old left with only memories of past friendships
Within the fraternity
Friendships bind eternity
In fraternal orders – tennis, music, professional
Across those borders of obsessions
You have been lights
Through the clouds of stroke
That I can gain warmth from your glow of love
From memories we shared

Written by Beryl H. Weiner, At The William Breman Jewish Home, April 10, 2011